

Infor Implementation Accelerator for EAM Enterprise

Streamline for faster benefits

Mid-sized organizations face the same challenges as larger, global companies and organizations, no matter what industry they're in. Industrial manufacturers; fleet and transportation, pharmaceutical, and life sciences companies; food and beverage distributors; automotive suppliers; energy producers; healthcare institutions; and many others, have all made considerable investments in crucial assets. They need to conserve and efficiently manage those assets, and reap the greatest benefit from those investments in order to achieve success. The difference is that mid-sized companies and organizations do not have the same resources as their larger counterparts to implement sophisticated IT solutions. The oversimplified, generic systems many opt for, implemented using a one-size fits all approach, do not allow them to compete effectively in today's dynamic marketplace.

These entities need a different approach—an approach that helps improve decision making—particularly in the areas of asset management, warranties, inventory planning, energy conservation, and risk mitigation. They need a streamlined implementation process that can deliver benefits in weeks, not months or years, and the foundation for the expanded features they'll need as their businesses evolve and grow.
